

FACILITIES MANAGEMENT CONTRACT COMPLIANCE

Gain Transparency into Facilities Contracts and Realize Cost Savings Now and in the Future

Managing facilities across broadly dispersed geographies, nationally or globally, presents significant challenges in today's complex business world. Companies often look to third-party specialty service providers to ensure their properties are well-managed and maintaining high employee workplace standards, such as quality building and grounds maintenance, food service availability, security and so much more.

Facilities management companies deliver a much needed service, but these are complex relationships which make it challenging to clearly understand whether assessed charges are accurate. To further complicate matters, many facilities management companies struggle with financial transparency. These factors combine to create a high-risk financial relationship which can subject your company to value leakage.

Contract Consultants: With You Every Step of the Way

We understand the demands of working in this complex environment. We've audited most of the leading global facilities management companies, and know how to gain access to the data and documentation needed to shed light on underlying contract details. Our audits identify billing errors, unsubstantiated charges and other gaps, delivering value through a combination of historical cost recovery and future cost savings opportunities.

At PRGX, our consultative approach delivers recurring audit insight year after year to help you find targeted cost savings now and in the future. We dig deep to identify contractor disbursements and nuances in the field to provide a basis for new metrics or data analytics that help you identify, monitor and manage cost by location.

Initial recoveries are only part of the solution our contract compliance division will uncover. Our tenured team is experienced in coaching clients through the resolution process, debriefing on non-compliance and recommendations for overcharge recovery and governance improvement.
